A Brief History of Tucson

The history of life in the Tucson Valley begins ca. 10,000 B.C. with the migrations of Paleoindian and Archaic hunters and gatherers. Whether or not there was continuous habitation is unclear, though evidence of agricultural settlements along the Santa Cruz River have been found dating from ca. 1000 B.C.

Between A.D. 200 and 1450, the Hohokam culture thrives. The Pima and Tohono O'odham are the descendants of that advanced civilization and have inhabited the region since the Hohokam decline. Around 1540 the Coronado Expedition crosses Arizona in search of the "Seven Cities of Gold." Father Francisco Kino establishes the Mission San Xavier del Bac in 1699. It won't be until 1797 that it will be completed. The Mission San Agustin, a "visita" of San Xavier, is established on the west bank of the Santa Cruz River in 1757. The construction of the mission and the convento is completed in 1790's.

In 1775, Hugo O'Conor establishes the Tucson Presidio. This year marks the official birthdate of the City of Tucson. Tucson becomes part of Mexico when it fights for independence in 1821. After the Gadsden Purchase in 1854, Tucson falls under the jurisdiction of the United States.

Arizona becomes an official territory in 1863. Between 1867 and 1877, Tucson holds the title of territorial capitol. In 1880, the Southern Pacific Railroad reaches Tucson. The population reaches 8,000.

Arizona becomes the 48th state in the Union in 1912.

By 1950 Tucson's population has reached 120,000 and by 1960 it nearly doubled to 220,000. The City and Pima County officially recognizes the city's history by adopting historic district ordinances in 1972.

Tucson becomes the 33rd largest U.S. city in 1990 as its population tops 400,000.

About Tucson

60 miles north of Mexico, Tucson has grown into a modern mini-metropolis of nearly a million people while preserving its historic culture. With equal parts college town and retirement community, it's one of the most attractive big cities of the Southwest. Tucson is one of the oldest, continuously settled cities in the United States.

➤ DRESS

Tucsonans take a relaxed approach to dress and casual clothing is acceptable for most occasions. Summer wear includes wide-brim hats, sunglasses and lightweight fabrics. In the warmer months, indoor air conditioning can get chilly for some so be prepared with a lightweight jacket or sweater. Sunscreen to protect the skin is recommended year-round. In the winter, a lightweight coat or jacket will usually suffice unless you're planning to visit higher mountain areas where colder temps and snow are possible.

➤ DESERT LIFE

The Sonoran Desert is a fragile ecosystem teeming with a variety of plant and animal species that depend on each other for survival; and law protects many of them. Please leave the desert as you find it. Purchase cactus and other native plants at Tucson's established desert gardens or cactus nurseries.

➤ TIME ZONE

The State of Arizona is located in the Mountain Standard Time Zone (MST). Arizona is one of only two U.S. states that does not make an adjustment for Daylight Savings Time and during the months April through October, Arizona time mirrors Pacific Daylight time.

Tohono Chul Park

This park on Tucson's northwest side is a very civilized piece of the Sonoran desert in the city, with a wide variety of desert plants around pleasant trails, which lead visitors to a gift shop and a shaded tea room serving delicious scones for tea time. Regular "Walk in the Park" tours provide an educational experience about the park's fauna and flora. Please call or visit our website for current admission pricing. (520) 742-6455 www.tohonochulpark.org

Catalina State Park

Located about 12 miles north of the city on Arizona Highway 77 (Oracle Road), this park affords the best views of the canyons and domes of the Catalina Mountains. A multitude of birds, snakes and lizards inhabit the lower regions, while deer and big-horn sheep roam the high country. The park offers an interpretive trail of an ancient Hohokam village. Picnicking and camping are available. Admission is USD $5 per car for day use payable at the ranger station, self-pay after dark. Credit cards are accepted at the gift shop. (520) 628-5798 www.azstateparks.com

Tucson Botanical Gardens

This is a major Tucson tourist attraction, and not just for plant lovers. Apart from a rich collection of cactus and desert wildflowers, the gardens offer an educational walk around the history of the native Tohono O'odham Indians and the efforts of local scientists to preserve native seeds. Don't miss the wonderful Nuestro Jardin, the traditional Mexican-American neighborhood garden, or the shaded restaurant patio. Please call or visit our website for current admission pricing. (520) 326-9686 www.tucsonbotanical.org

Arizona-Sonoran Desert Museum

This world-famous museum is rather a zoo displaying the creatures of the surrounding desert in their natural habitats. Located in the middle of the Sonoran desert about an half-hour drive from the city center, it also provides breathtaking views of the surrounding mountain ranges. The gift shop has an excellent selection of Sonoran desert souvenirs. This is a must for any visitor staying in Tucson for more than just one day. Group rates are available. Please call or visit our website for admission pricing. 2021 N. Kinney Road (520) 883-2702 www.desertmuseum.org

Sabino Canyon

Of all the natural attractions in and around Tucson, Sabino Canyon is certainly the most popular. This large chasm in the Santa Catalina Mountains is where ancient Hohokam people built irrigation dams while mammoths roamed the ground. Access is free but there is a charge for parking. High-lights are swimming (conditions allowing) in clear pools after a six-mile hike to Seven Falls and summer evening shuttle rides by pre-paid reservations. For pricing on our Sabino tram rides and Bear shuttles please call or visit our website.

Information by Wcities

Open Hours: Park: Dawn-dusk daily, Shuttles: 9am-4pm every hour on the hour, M-F, 9am-4:30pm and every 30 minutes Sat-Sun (520) 749-2861 www.sabinocanyon.com

Mount Lemmon

See Tucson from a birds-eye view. Take Catalina Highway 30 miles through the Coronado National Forest where giant Saguaro cacti tower and a variety of desert vegetation blooms year around. Stop at the Seven Cataracts and Windy Pointe Vista for scenic views of untamed mountain landscape surrounding the distant lights of Tucson. Visit Ski Valley and lunch at the Iron Door. The lift operates year-round offering visitors a ride to the sky. Follow signs to Summerhaven, and browse the rustic shops or book a cozy Mount Lemmon cabin. Make a day of it!

Kitt Peak National Observatory

Southern Arizona's clear skies are ideal to host the world's largest observatory. Located 56 miles southwest of Tucson on top of a rugged mountain range, Kitt Peak features the world's largest collection of telescopes and frequently contributes to important astronomical discoveries. The observatory is open to the public, and there is no charge for admission, although a $2 donation is requested for the guided tour. Please call or visit our website for rates for nighttime public observing programs (reservations required) (520) 318.8739

Mission San Xavier Del Bac

This attraction is to Tucson what the Eiffel Tower is to Paris, except it's more ancient. Founded in 1700 by the Spanish missionary Father Kino, 10 miles south of what is now downtown Tucson on the Tohono O'odham Indian reservation. San Xavier del Bac is considered one of the finest examples of Mexican folk baroque architecture. Indian crafts, shops and a cafe are nearby. The parish is still active so please be respectful of religious activities when visiting.

Saguaro National Park

Designated in 1994 and bookending Tucson from two sides, Saguaro National Park gives protection to native animals and plants, most prominently the stately Saguaro cactus—a well-known icon of the Arizonan and Mexican deserts. Both locations have loop roads for driving and cycling, visitor's centers, bookstores, hiking trails, picnic areas and exhibit centers. The Westside park also has a remarkable ancient petroglyph site. Rangers offer special interpretative hikes on request. There is no admission fee for the Westside; however, please call or visit our website for charges to the Eastside park.

Tucson Arts District

The Tucson Arts District Partnership is working to transform the formerly distressed Tucson downtown area into a cultural hub. This non-profit organization has helped local artists find studio space downtown and restored dilapidated historic buildings, thereby transforming the streets around Congress into attractions for visitors from out of town. Staff members also organize studio tours and art walks during fall, winter and spring, as well as the popular Downtown Saturday Night festival. Call the TADP office for art walk and tour schedules. Most tours are free. (520) 624.9977

El Tiradito Wishing Shrine

There is an intriguing legend behind this shrine on Main Street near the old historic barrio, a story involving broken hearts and crimes of passion, but you'll have to read the plaque mounted on it to discover the tale. El Tiradito has been part of local folklore for a long time and is now a national historic site. Take a peek and make your own wish.
420 S. Main Avenue, Tucson, 85701

Reid Park Zoo

While not being in the major league of zoos, this is still one of the major attractions in the city. Due to its relatively small size, the zoo can be explored at a leisurely pace in less than two hours. The animals are on display in pleasant natural settings. Travel from South American rain forests to the African grasslands in one day. Over 500 exotic animals from different continents. Conservation, recreation and education for the entire family.
For admission prices please call us or visit our website.

Tucson Museum of Art

Founded in 1924 and located in the historic El Presidio District, The Tucson Museum of Art and Historic Block maintains permanent collections of more than 6,000 works of art. In addition, the Museum presents visiting exhibitions of works in all media. Exhibitions are organized by the Museum and traveling exhibitions are organized by other institutions. The historic block features five distinctive houses built between 1850 and 1907. Experience the lush courtyards, fountains and sculpture gardens; visit the elegant Museum Shop and Café à la C'Art; study at our popular Art School; enjoy the excitement of contemporary movements and the pleasure of rich artistic traditions at the Tucson Museum of Art. (520) 624-2333 www.tucsonmuseumofart.org

St. Augustine Cathedral

St. Augustine Cathedral is located in downtown Tucson on Stone Avenue. It is a magnificent sandstone facade structure built in the 1800s. The style is modeled after the cathedral of Queretaro in Mexico, carved with images of yucca, horned toad lizards and saguaro cacti. The exterior is crafted with a bandstand of more than three hundred flowers with a thousand leaves, branches and made purely of steel, incredible craftsmanship.

The interior is also eye catching but with a modest tone meant to Reverence God. It is the oldest Cathedral in Town and the mother church of the Roman Catholic Church in Tucson. (520) 623-6351 www.cathedral-staugustine.org

Temple of Music and Art

Patrons of the arts, demanding a proper environment for classical concerts in Tucson helped raise most of the money necessary to build this imposing concert hall in 1927. The main building is home to a 600-seat theater, mainly used by the Arizona Theatre Company. There is a small art gallery on the second floor; the south wing contains a nice cafe, with a cabaret theater right above it, while the north wing holds a gift shop offering theatrical and musical souvenirs. Free backstage tours are given every Saturday at 11:30am, October through April. (520) 622-2823 www.arizonatheatre.org

Old Town Artisans

This is a place not to be missed when sightseeing in downtown Tucson. The old adobe structure in the historic Presidio district invites visitors to explore its shops, galleries and restaurants or to just sit and relax in the wonderful courtyard shaded by palm trees. It's a kind of art shopping center catering to tourists eagerly looking for souvenirs from the Southwest; in fact, it offers everything from Navajo rugs to dried prickly pear jam. There is no admission fee. All stores and restaurants accept major credit cards. (520) 623-6024 www.oldtownartisans.com

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

As of July 17, 1994, the Homestead Exemption is automatic in Arizona; you do not need to file for it. Only one exemption may be claimed per individual claimant or married couple. The homestead exemption allows any resident of Arizona, 18 years of age or older, to exempt from attachment, execution or forced sale $150,000 of equity in a single dwelling unit. In other words, if someone wins a suit or judgment against you, $150,000 of equity in your home can't be touched. Exceptions include (1) process and sale of a consensual lien, i.e. where a deed of trust or equity loan is foreclosed; (2) a forced sale resulting from a mechanic's lien, and (3) any equity beyond the $150,000.

Note: This explanation is a summary of the Arizona homestead property exemption statutes. You should consult with an attorney to determine if this exemption offers you protection in the event of an attachment, execution or forced sale

SCHOOL IMMUNIZATIONS

Before children can attend private or public schools and preschools, parents must show proof of their children's immunizations. Requirements typically include multiple doses of Polio, Dip-theria/Tetanus/Pertusis, and Hepatitis B. Children may be admitted if they have received one dose of required immunizations and if parents provide a schedule for remaining requirements. For specific requirements and exemptions, call the County Health Department, 520-724-7770, your school administration office, or your physician. You may also want to inquire about free immunizations available at numerous locations throughout the Tucson area.

pets of arizona

The Pima County leash law states that no dogs (or cats) can run loose unless participating at a kennel club sanctioned event, or dogs are being used for livestock control or hunting. Dogs must be vaccinated for rabies and then licensed annually by the County. Licenses can be purchased at any Animal Control facility or through the mail. Call 520-724-5969 for more information.

Services provided by Pima Animal Control include adoptions, vaccinations, tick dips, licenses and pickup of stray dogs. Spaying and neutering are recommended for all pets!

Don't forget to get new name tags for your pets and update registration information with local licensing offices. If your pet is lost and picked up by Animal Control, it will be held a maximum of only three days if it doesn't have tags, or six days if it has tags, before being destroyed. You are responsible for visiting the Animal Control facilities to look for your lost pet. Also, to report lost or found pets, call 520-724-7222.

The Arizona Humane Society picks up injured and roaming stray animals and will accept strays brought in by non-owners. All strays are transferred to Animal Control. Animals given up by owners may be offered for adoption by the Humane Society, but many are taken to Animal Control. For more information please visit Humane Society of Southern Arizona.

benefits

FROM A PROFESSIONAL REALTOR®

Congratulations on your decision to buy a home!

It's a challenging project and there are many ways a professional can help.
Here are some of the many ways you may benefit from working with a Realtor®:

IT WON'T COST YOU A PENNY!

The Realtor® who helps you buy a home is traditionally paid by the Seller.

MANY MORE HOME CHOICES

Your Realtor® has thousands of homes to choose from through the Multiple Listing Service (MLS), so you're more likely to find the home that's just right for you and find it quicker. In fact, a majority of the homes for sale are listed by Realtors® and aren't available to you unless you are working with a Realtor®.

A NUMBER OF TRANSACTIONS "FALL OUT"

Unfortunately, it's true. Some transactions fall apart before closing. An experienced Realtor® may be able to resolve problems and see your transaction through to a successful closing.

KNOWLEDGE OF NEW HOME SUBDIVISIONS

New home subdivisions will welcome you and your Realtor®. If you're interested in buying a new home, take your agent with you on your first visit to each subdivision. Your professional Realtor® is an important source of information who can supply background on the builder, nearby subdivisions, and the local community.

IT'S A MAJOR INVESTMENT

You use a professional for your legal, financial and health needs. Why gamble on what may be your biggest investment without a professional at your side?

HELP WITH FSBO'S

If you consider a "For Sale By Owner," take your Realtor® along to help negotiate the contract. The owner may not only agree to your terms, but also agree to pay the agent's commission.

LESS LIABILITY

You will have more protection from legal and financial liability, especially as real estate transactions become more complicated.

THE PAPERWORK

Your experienced Realtor® will negotiate and prepare the purchase contract for you and assist you throughout the escrow process.

THE ESCROW PROCESS AT T.S.A

WHAT IS AN ESCROW? An escrow is a process wherein the Buyer and Seller deposit written instructions, documents, and funds with a neutral third party until certain conditions are fulfilled. In a real estate transaction, the Buyer does not pay the Seller directly for the property. The Buyer gives the funds to an escrow company who, acting as an intermediary, verifies that title to the property is clear and all written instructions in the contract have been met. Then the company transfers the ownership of the property to the Buyer through recordation and pays the Seller. This process protects all parties involved.

The State of Arizona licenses and regulates all escrow companies. The Insurance Commissioner and the State Banking Department can inspect a company's records at any time, providing further oversight of the company's management and position as an impartial third party to the transaction.

In Arizona, escrow services are generally provided by a title insurance company instead of an attorney. The stability, reliability and performance of your title and escrow company are vital to protect the interests of all parties to the transaction.

HOW IS AN ESCROW OPENED? Once the completed contract (or Purchase Agreement) is fully signed and executed and the Seller has accepted the offer, the Buyer's Agent will open the escrow. The earnest money deposit and the contract are placed in escrow. As a neutral party to the transaction, Title Security can respond only to those written instructions agreed to mutually by all "interested" parties (Seller and Buyer); Title Security cannot otherwise alter the contract or create instructions and that protects all interested parties.

HOW TO HOLD TITLE. The Buyer should inform the escrow officer and lender as soon as possible of how they wish to hold title of their home and exactly how their name(s) will appear on all documents. This allows the lender and title company to prepare all documents correctly. (Changes later, such as adding or deleting an initial in your name can delay your closing.) Buyers may wish to consult an attorney, accountant or other professional before deciding how to hold title.

WHAT HAPPENS AT TITLE SECURITY? During the escrow period, our title department begins researching and examining all historical records pertaining to the subject property. Barring any unusual circumstances, a commitment for title insurance is issued, indicating a clear title or listing any items which must be cleared prior to closing. The commitment is sent to the buyer for review.

The escrow officer follows instructions on the contract, coordinates deadlines and gathers all necessary paperwork. For example, written requests for payoff information (called "demands") are sent to the Seller's mortgage company and any other lien holders.

AS PART OF OUR SERVICE, TITLE SECURITY WILL:

OPEN escrow and deposit Buyer(s) "good faith" funds in a separate escrow account.

CONDUCT a title search to determine ownership and status of the subject property.

ISSUE a title commitment and begin the process to delete or record items to provide clear title to the property.

Per contract, CONFIRM that the lender has determined the Buyer, is qualified for a new loan.

ASK you to complete a beneficiary's statement if you are assuming the Seller's loan.

MEET all deadlines as specified in the contract.

REQUEST payoff information for the Seller's loan(s), other liens, homeowners association fees, etc.

PRORATE fees, such as property taxes, per the contract, and prepare the settlement statement.

SET separate appointments: Seller will sign documents; the Buyer will sign documents and deposit funds.

REVIEW documents ensuring all conditions and title requirements are fulfilled; request funds from lender.

When all funds are deposited, RECORD documents at the County Recorder to transfer the subject property from the Seller to the Buyer.

After recordation is confirmed, CLOSE escrow and disburse funds, including Seller's proceeds, loan payoffs, Realtors®' commissions, related fees for recording, etc.

PREPARE and send final documents to parties involved.

PLANNING YOUR

MOVE

ABOUT 2 MONTHS BEFORE YOU MOVE

- ✓ Research your new city through the Chamber of Commerce or, if a computer is available to you, through many of the online websites.
- ✓ Start cleaning closets and storage areas and decide what goes with you, what goes to a charitable organization or garage sale, and what goes in the trash.
- ✓ Talk with your accountant or an IRS advisor about any moving expenses that might be tax deductible and require records.
- ✓ Contact moving companies (and the Better Business Bureau) for services and estimates.
- ✓ Start a list of everyone you want to notify about your move. Keep it handy because names will pop into your mind unexpectedly. Along with friends and relatives, include schools, doctors, dentists, creditors, attorney, accountant, broker, and any recurring services such as maid, lawn, exterminator, water softener, diaper, internet provider, magazine subscriptions, etc.

1 MONTH OUT

- ✓ Notify the post office of the move, and pick up a supply of change of address cards.
- ✓ If possible, open bank accounts at the new location now so your checks can be printed, and you won't have to rely on temporary checks which are not accepted everywhere.
- ✓ Get serious about cleaning out the house; start accumulating boxes and begin packing. Hold a garage sale.
- ✓ Contact your insurance companies (health, auto, homeowners, renters) and discuss coverage at the new location.
- ✓ Contact utility companies and arrange to disconnect/ connect at your current home and at your new home.
- ✓ Driving? Flying? How will you, your family, your pets, your plants, extra cars, get to the new city? Arrange for that now.
- ✓ Take pets to your veterinarian for check up and regular immunizations before the trip.

2 WEEKS BEFORE

- ✓ Contact your bank about closing your existing accounts when you move.
- ✓ If you're driving your car, have it serviced.
- ✓ Find out what you need to do to transfer records for doctors, dentists, veterinarians, etc. Be sure to get permanent records from schools, not copies. Get prescriptions for new pharmacies.

1 WEEK LEFT

- ✓ Get rid of all flammable products, paint, gasoline, etc.
- ✓ Contact your local trash collector about proper disposal.
- ✓ Gather odds and ends: dry cleaning, safe deposit box items, prescriptions, anything you've loaned.
- ✓ Return library books, rented videos, anything borrowed.
- ✓ Drain gas and oil from equipment you're shipping, such as lawn mowers, gas weed trimmers, etc.

A COUPLE OF DAYS

- ✓ Give away plants you're not taking.
- ✓ Defrost the refrigerator and freezer.
- ✓ Write out clear instructions—sketch a map, too, if you can—of your new home, and include your itinerary and emergency numbers. Keep a copy yourself, and give copies to the moving company and your family or friends.
- ✓ Complete packing. Be sure to set aside the items you want to take with you so the mover doesn't accidentally load them onto the truck.
- ✓ Pack local phone books. You'll be glad you did.
- ✓ Check with the utility companies to verify connect and disconnect dates after escrow closes.
- ✓ Contact your Realtor® and verify when and where keys to your new home will be available.
- ✓ Pick up beverages and snacks for moving day.
- ✓ Disconnect major appliances.

THE BIG DAY

- ✓ If you can't be there when the movers arrive, arrange for someone to meet them.
- ✓ Check the movers' bill of lading and inventory carefully before signing. Keep papers with you in a safe place.
- ✓ Make one last trip through the house, double-checking closets, drawers and cabinets. Lock the windows.
- ✓ Leave the garage remote control for the new owners.
- ✓ Turn off all the lights, close and lock the door, and leave the keys as prearranged with your Realtor® or new owner.

GOOD LUCK, AND ENJOY YOUR NEW HOME!
